Trash Hauler Talks About You and Your Care of The Alleys

There is one man in every community who gets but little publicity, and very little thanks for his much called services. We are now talking about the man who works for the city, hauling off trash and stuff that is a positive danger to the health of everybody.

In Hamlin the man who handles the "Sanitary Truck" is I. A. Millorn. He stepped into the Herald Tuesday to put in an "Ad" as he called it. Anyway, he wanted to say something to the general public and wanted the Herald to take pay. But we have gotten pay enough already, for Mr. Millorn has been hauling away trash from our back alley and your back alley, and all over town, and we know he did not get any too much pay for that kind of work. But Millorn came in to thank the people for being so co-operative in helping him clean the alleys.

He says: "I want to express my appreciation to so many who cleaned up their alleys till now I can get through and am able to do the work better. I also want to say that there are yet some alley spots, several of them in Hamlin, that are so grown up in weeds, bushes, trash and filth till I can hardly get the truck through." That's a plain statement from Mr. Millorn. The people who live with a dirty alley ought to clean it up where the truck can handle the trash. It is not his job to cut and pile, rake and sweep.

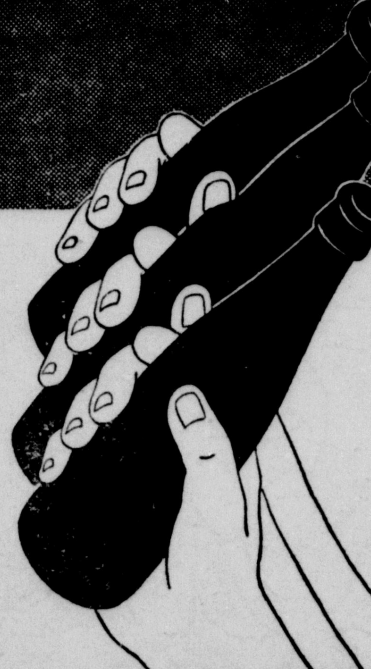

Mr. Millorn says, "Actually some people have even swept their alleys, but some right by them have never moved a hand." No he did not call names. And that is what is the matter with Hamlin. . . too many of us are so afraid we will step on some fellow's pink toes, we just keep quiet and take it. Congratulations, Mr. Millorn, you are doing a nice job, keep it going, maybe the people appreciate it more than you understand.

Canning Chicken

Canning chicken is a popular way of using the cull hens and conserving meat for later use. Canning chicken demonstrations have been given to several communities, but requests come in daily—at the present, no bulletins are available on the latest methods, but here it is briefly. Pack chicken raw in containers, glass or C enamel cans—add salt, steam process. Instructions can be sent in detail or attend demonstrations: Hodges, Sept. 8; Lueders, Sept. 3; Stith, Sept. 13; Willow Creek, Sept. 29; New Hope, Sept. 20; Carlton, Sept. 30, or arrange with home demonstration agent a demonstration for your community. Demonstrations will start at 2 P. M., and close at 4 P. M.

Grand Prairie Man Buys Hyatt-Walker

This week G. C. Colthorp of Grand Prairie purchased the grocery and market fixtures of the Hyatt-Walker Red & White Store and will open up with a brand new stock about September 1st.

Mr. Colthorp has a wife and two children, a son, Billy 15, and a daughter, LaNell, age 10. He is wanting a house to live in and gives all indications that he is coming to Hamlin to make a good citizen. He formerly operated a grocery at Crowell, at the time of the great cyclone there. The past year or more he has lived at Grand Prairie and did air-craft work.

Don't Forget Army's Corps of Engineers

Short Cut To Tokyo

Alaskan "sourdoughs" said it couldn't be done, but the great Alaskan Highway is finished! A 2,000 mile engineering "miracle" that dropped weeks from an impossible schedule. Today, trucks and trailers are rolling on this great highway, "high-balling" supplies and munitions to air bases within bomber range of Japanese territory.

Engineers Build Largest Airfield In U. S.

In an unpublicized ceremony the Army's Corps of Engineers turned over to the Air Forces the first and biggest dispersal-type airfield ever built in the United States; the 4,360 acre Camp Springs fighter plane base in Maryland, on the Potomac near Washington, and designed to intercept enemy raids on the capitol. Altogether Camp Springs is a milestone in American military aviation, and it took a colossal engineering job to accomplish it. Summing up their achievement the Army Engineers reported that the field cost $20,000,000 and required 8,000,000 man-hours of work, besides taking more equipment than had been used ever before on any project in the country. The field was so vast that in order to observe all runways the control tower had to be 131 feet high—more than twice the average.

Laying Mines by the Square Mile

Jerry has taught us how effective mine fields can be when sowed by the square mile and the Fifth Army Engineers pride themselves in figuring out new and better methods of laying vast areas with explosives of all types as a defensive wall or to "channelize" any enemy attack such as that which broke through the weak mine fields at Kasserine Gap. The quick adoption of this lesson stopped the panzer attacks at El Guetter when the mine fields forced the Germans into American gunfire, although admittedly the Herculean effort was partly the courageously efficient work of the Engineers outfit which saved the day with a last-minute mining.

Combat Engineers in Bizerte Finale

Squads of Combat Engineers were used in the Bizerte mop-up to find and kill a score or more of German rearward soldiers still holding in the debris and sniping at unwary walkers. These Combat Engineers go in every house and check for mines and booby traps as well as snipers. The Germans did not place many booby traps, because the French were watching every move they made. This grim little band of Engineers had set about the task of taking house by house and street by street the city they already held in force and in which Nazi snipers were fighting a delaying action in the hope that trapped troops on the peninsula could be evacuated before the Americans annihilated them.

Supplies For Russia

When the story of this war eventually is told American "imagineering" will have a high place. It is in large part a war of transportation and supplies, of getting materials to where they are needed when they are needed. Wonders have been accomplished in this respect, for instance, the supply route to Russia over Iran. It is to the ever-lasting credit of the Corps of Engineers the development of those channels of supply, the blazing of those new paths over seemingly unconquerable obstacles.—Engineers' Headquarters, San Antonio.

Hamlin's First Bale Brought In Aug. 13 Ginned By Neinda

The honor this year goes to Jim Young for bringing in the first 1943 bale of cotton. He had his bale under the suction at the Neinda Farmers Coop. Gin last Friday morning, and just tatter-noon it was on the sidewalks in front of the Chamber of Commerce. It weighed 470 pounds and was purchased by F. W. Poe, manager of the Neinda Gin, at 20 cents per pound.

Mrs. E. M. Wilson, secretary of the Chamber of Commerce, reports a total of $58.50 contributed as a first bale gift for Mr. and Mrs. Young. Yes, the wife ought to get part of the prize for the part she must have played in getting the husband up and out with early cotton. There was $54.50 in hard cash and $4.00 worth of merchandise. A beautiful box of printed stationery from the Herald valued at $3.00 will be presented to Mrs. Young.

Other contributors were, F. & M. Bank $5.00, Mid-West Coop. Oil Mill $5.00. Those giving $2.50 each were Terrell Foods, Inzer Pharmacy, West Texas Utilities Co., Bryant-Link, and Hamlin Compress. Those giving $2.00 were Mrs. B. S. Ferguson, Day Hardware, Moore Grain Co., Spencer Lumber Co., and Paul Bryan Lumber Co. Those giving $1.00 each were Joe Culbertson, Schoemann Co. Model Grocery, Eddie Jay, Morgan Insurance, York Stores, Malouf's, Waggoner Drug (Mds.), The Book Shop, Jess Young, Barrow Furniture Co., Reynolds Drug, Blue Bonnett Cafe, Western Auto, Wilson Hardware, Rockwell Lumber Co., Albritton Grocery, and Elmer Feagan. Those contributing 50c each were, McMahon Jewelry, Hudson Service Station, Edgar Childress, Carter Variety, James Furniture Ex., Brewer's Cafe, M. P. May Furniture, Witt Jewelry, Casle Insurance, and Bowman's Shoe Shop. The ginning and wrapping were free.

On Tuesday afternoon, Mr. Poe reported his gin was expecting to get several bales that day and before Saturday several more.

Army Salvage Crews Gathering Scrap Iron

Fifty soldiers from Camp Berkeley under the direction of Sgt. Strane are quartered in Anson and have begun a house to house canvass of the county seeking idle scrap metals and rubber. The Agricultural Victory Chain is assisting with this drive in the rural areas by carrying information about the army scrap drive to each farm family. Civic leaders are assisting with the drive in towns and cities.

Every house in the county will be visited by a detail of soldiers with an army truck and scrap will be hauled directly from each house. All scrap picked up by the army must be gift scrap. Sgt. Strane is anxious that each farmer or rancher decide what scrap he plans to give before the trucks come around, and leave this information with some person at the house. This will prevent repeat calls which are wasteful and expensive. Where it is necessary, tenant farmers should contact their landlords and find out what scrap is to be given.

All scrap donated to the army is sold and the proceeds sent directly to the U. S. Treasurer. The army is collecting this metal and rubber only because of the serious need of it. Old car bodies will be collected in this drive but tin cans will not be included since they go through a different channel.—James Binion, Co. Agent.

Jerry Waggoner Talks On Artificial Limbs

One of the rarest talks the Hamlin Rotary Club ever listened to was given Wednesday by our young friend, Jerry Waggoner, son of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Waggoner.

As all of the readers of the Herald know, perhaps, Jerry had the misfortune of losing his left leg just above the knee about nine months ago. By his almost unlimited will power, natural bodily strength and untiring efforts, he is fast becoming a real boy again, despite that handicap. So he has been doing lots of studying, investigating, experimenting, counseling, and even traveling to learn all he can about Artificial Limbs, and his talk Wednesday was an eye-opener to the men of long experience at the Rotary Club.

Jerry gave a history of artificial limb developments since the Civil War. He dispelled the old idea that there are cork legs. He had with him samples of light, but very hard and strong plastic made from cotton, and molded to fit any leg or arm. He had literature showing what boys with even no arms or legs could do, illustrations of the various means of doing things with one hand or leg. Jerry said one firm came to Hamlin and began to tell him what he could not do, and by and with the advice of another young man he got in touch with another artificial limb firm and so now after just a few weeks of practice Jerry is doing the things he was told he could not do.

That's the American boy's spirit. So Jerry says he hopped on a bicycle and rode 18 blocks, and stair-steps, shucks; "I go right up." Jerry even went so far as to say, "Why there are some things I can do that you men can't" so he illustrated by kicking his left leg right square up in front of his face, and momentarily held it there. So there's why the men sat spell-bound and learned direct from that young fellow who is a model of power and determination to develop into a great and useful man. Yes sir, Jerry you can knock a home-run, keep batting and your fans will increase by the hundreds.

Baptists At Texas

Austin, Texas, Aug. 10—The University of Texas—State—supported and consequently non-sectarian—has the largest concentration of Baptist students in the entire world.

J. C. Baker, student minister at the University Baptist church here, reports that a recent investigation showed more Baptist students here than at any other college, even those sponsored by the Baptist church.

This summer about 850 of the 4,800 University students—including Navy trainees—are Baptists, while in pre-war days approximately 2,100 of the University's peak enrollment of 11,000 students were members of the Baptist church or indicated that church as their preference.

The Rev. J. E. Harrell is conducting a revival at Dovie which will close Sunday night. Good interest is being manifest. The Rev. C. R. Hankins is pastor of the Methodist church there.

Another New Minister Preaching Sunday At First Baptist Church

The Pulpit Committee of the First Baptist Church, acting directors for the church in the absence of a pastor, announces that Rev. J. D. Simmons, of Greenville, North Carolina, will occupy the pulpit this coming Sunday, at 11:00 A. M. and at 8:45 P. M. There is no special information about this minister, except that his wife either lived at Jayton or that her parents reside there now. However he perhaps comes as a possible man for the pastorate.

Last Sunday the Rev. C. G. Sewell recently pastor of the Baptist church at Phoenix, Arizona, preached for the church in both morning and evening services. He also is a possible pastor. The Committee would like for this statement to be made: They do not call a pastor, they only act to find an available man, and then the individual members of the church express their wishes as to whom they want as pastor, and a majority elects. Some churches let months pass before they make a call. Just when Hamlin church will be ready to vote, is yet to be learned.

Remember Sunday, services as usual, and everybody is welcome.

The Modern Way To Care For Humanity

According to the report of the Social Security Board, 912 Maverick Building, San Antonio, the first eight years of the operation of the Social Security Act has these facts, according to the figures the Herald finds in the report for June, 1943.

The Needy Aged (2,181,700 of them) received $53,385,000.

The Needy Blind (53,800 of them in the United States) received $1,390,000.

The Dependent Children (739,000 of them from 302,800 families) received $11,717,000, a grand total of $66,492,000 in that one month.

Now let's remember this Act has been in operation just eight years, and the grand total distributed by the Federal, State and local governments, reaches the enormous sum of Four Billion, 87 million, eight hundred eighty-two thousand, eight hundred fifty dollars ($4,087,882,850) to the three classes of people in the United States. Even the shock of war does not affect this modern method of helping humanity, where needed. And this is but a small corner of what the Social Security Act means to the working and independent citizenship of the nation. Yet, yes, and yet, when this new governmental service was proposed after the great depression of 1930-33, the party not responsible for it was much against it, then but not now. The Social Security Act was the greatest piece of legislation enacted in the United States within the past hundred years.

Mr. and Mrs. M. S. Wright of Fort Worth visited over the week end with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. John Hudson and family. Before her marriage Mrs. Wright was Pauline Hubbard.

Mrs. Lula Gantt of Blooming Grove is spending the week in the home of Mr. and Mrs. C. C. Cohorn.

THIS WEEK

A LITTLE BIT ABOUT

This

AND A LITTLE BIT OF

DON'T YOU THINK—

Hamlin needs a customers' Cold Storage?

Hamlin needs the ice plant restored?

Hamlin needs a modern, small hospital?

Hamlin needs an ample civilian air plane landing field?

Hamlin needs that highway to McCaulley-Sylvester?

Hamlin needs either a new cemetery or more room by the ones we now have?

What else do you think Hamlin needs? Whatever is possible to get when the war is over, Hamlin community is due it.

—Well, the air did move again.

Monday night was a scorcher, even 100 degrees inside homes at 11:30 P. M., but in a few hours a norther came down and what relief! But what we need is rain and not just wind. It is similar to wanting something for the community. . . . wind is OK for a while, but it soon blows out. O yes, we got plenty of water in our lakes, but we need five inches of rain.

—Don't kick, we can make out on 3 per coupon. . . . and all who must have gas to operate essential business will get it. . . . bear with regulations of war, the more we do the quicker will the war be over.

—Listen, one farmer killed a hog, hurried it to Stamford's dry cold storage, where he got the sausage ground, seasoned, and brought it to his home frigidaire and the meat is being cured the next six weeks—cost, $7.00, or 3c per pound. But that's 22 miles away. Why not have one in Hamlin?

Patricia Ann Bevan

Age 4, Died Monday

The little daughter of Mrs. Anna Lou Bevan of West Hamlin, died at the family residence, Monday morning at eight o'clock; age 4 years, 9 months and 7 days. She had been up and about as usual, and was ill but only three hours. Cause of death was perhaps a rupture of a blood vessel in the brain.

Funeral services were conducted at the First Baptist church, by Rev. J. W. Cundieff, pastor of the Calvary Baptist church, of South Hamlin, and Rev. Little from Abilene.

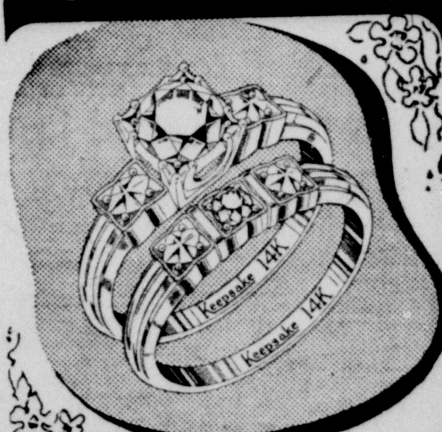

The Barrow Company had charge of interment in Hamlin East Cemetery.

Little Miss June Marie Hurley spent the week end in Stamford with Eva Ann Allen, who returned to spend the week in the home of June's grand parents, Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Watson.

Winning The War

On this page are sketches from our boys, soldiers, and other service folks. Notes about this boy and that one, and so here we take this means of saying to them that from what we can gather, from every angle, the United Forces are winning this war and doing it with increased speed. This is true on every front, on land, on the sea and in the air. Yes, it is true that on every front men are falling, and there is increasing anxiety about them, but that is war. Even in peace time hundreds of us must fall.

Things are shaping up in Europe that seem to point to the defeat of Italy in a few weeks, and if our bombing can be kept up over Germany, as it has been done during June, July and August, till the middle of December, it is reasonable that so many will be wounded, killed, hungry and homeless in Germany that she will see the futility of fighting an ever increasing powerful foe, and will surrender. Humanity can stand just so much. We are talking about Europe now.

With the Russians holding the push of the Germans this early in the summer, and with the momentum they will gather by winter, it looks as though the Russians will have the honor of marching, by force of arms, into Berlin. And no nation in the world should feel jealous of Russia for that honor, if she can do it. Germany, like Japan, has thought nobody can invade her "sacred" precincts, and thus she will continue to think till some army enters, fighting her forces. We can not see why the British Commonwealth of Nations, or Belgium, or Holland, or Norway, or even the United States should heed the cry of Germany to quit when she had such a deaf ear to the cry of humanity while butchering Poland and Czechoslovakia. Her days of grace have passed and she must take the consequences of battle, within her own borders or there will be another world war in 30 years.

This nation is contributing untold things to winning the war, regardless of the much puzzling chatter of politics. Our fighting forces have heard politics all their lives and it does not scare them a whit. They know full well the jabber must go on and so will the fighting by our army and navy till the sourest old grouch will some day throw up his happy hands and shout, "We've done it again." Yes sir, boys, politics should not bother an army anywhere. You have not time to bother about things the home folks should look after. If anything gets "loose" in this country, the kids of the army will still have enough fight in them to vote it right when they get home. There will always be plenty to do at home. Generally 99 per cent of the people are kind and sympathetic with the soldier and his sacrifices. The others don't count.

Hunting Votes

One of the most unreasonably steps taken in this nation, during this war, according to our viewpoint, is the effort of the Congress and some states to increase the voting strength....in two or three ways.

First, Congress passed a law to permit soldiers to vote, thus placing the Army and Navy in politics that but few of them know or care much about while trying to save the nation by fighting. A few months, weeks or days may change a political situation, and what would the soldier know to do to help or hinder away off down yonder where he is tied up in a jungle battle? Don't blame Democrats or Republicans for this step, both are guilty, or both parties were afraid somebody would think they were withholding the vote from a soldier. We admit the soldier is entitled to everything, but he will be able to handle the politicians by his vote when he gets home.

Now down in Georgia they have lowered the voting age to 18. So this is another silly effort to get votes. And every state will jump into line to measure-up. Some kids 18 will have some smattering idea how to exercise a vote, but nature has not gone far enough yet. Oh yes, you say 18 year old kids are made to fight. They are also made to chop cotton, saw wood, milk cows, and do lots of things, under direction. So under Naval and Military direction they can do as much at 18 as any man at 30. Most 18 year olds have not finished high school, have hardly sprouted a beard and don't give a d-o-n-k-e-y whether old Mr. Commonsense is elected or old Mr. Blowhard. But Congress will have a fit to lower the age before the next election day. They will be afraid the soldiers will not give a whit or be too busy fighting to care to vote. Why not the 17's too, or the 16's?

Then Congress (part of it) has been having a monkey fit to fix a federal law to get all the colored votes, all the unconcerned, don't-give-a-d--- white class into the voting boxes without a poll tax receipt. Just anything, lordy, to get more votes. First thing you know somebody will be wanting the Japs and Chinese, and the what-nots to vote. Just so it is a vote. Why not let's admit all the Italian and German prisoners votes?

None of this makes sense. But we gotta have the votes.

WRITE THEM TODAY!

(From Postmasters Gazette)

When it comes to getting mail from home the American soldier is breaking all previous records with an average of fourteen pieces of mail a week. Soldier mail, handled by the Army postal service with a weekly load of 30,000,000 letters, is comparable to the mail of a city of 18,000,000 population.

It has been ascertained that in addition to receiving two pieces of mail each day, he writes on the average of two letters a day. In an effort to speed up the delivery of mail to the soldiers in North Africa, the Army postal service has recently begun operating an airplane postal service across this region.

For the first time in the history of military or civilian aviation, postal clerks are aboard planes, handling and processing the mails. With this extra service, plus the recent introduction of V-mail to and from North Africa, the postal service does not stop until the mail is delivered to the soldiers, regardless of where they may be.

Incorrectly addressed mail tends to delay delivery, but despite the fact that thirteen per cent of the mail directed overseas is incorrectly addressed, only three per cent remains undelivered, so efficient is the Army postal service.

Soldiers want letters from home, from their families and friends, and newspapers, but to save space, clipping of matters of interest to the soldier will be most welcome. Mail can ruin, as well as build, a soldier's morale. Give him cheerful news, instead of tales of woe on the home front—he has his own troubles.

The use of money orders is to be preferred to currency—the Army postal service will cash the money orders. V-mail stations are established in the following countries: The United Kingdom, India, North Africa, Egypt, Ireland, Hawaii, and in several of the South and Southwest Pacific Islands.

The delivery of soldier mail has definitely been speeded up, faster than it was moved before the war—in some cases mail arrives in eight days from Australia.

S. C. Ferguson, one of our newest seamen, came in from San Diego Wednesday after finishing his boot camp.

There is nothing in the world parents like to get as much as a letter from a soldier or sailor son who has been in a danger spot, especially. There's Mr. and Mrs. Ezra Shira, whose son, William E., writes from the "hot spots of the Pacific". William is a Marine and from a New Caledonia photographic souvenir folder, we have some idea where he may be. July 3 was his birthday and he got eight letters, which he said was very unusual. "Some of the boys gave me money as a present, others kind words or a poem of their own composition. Last but not least we sat around in the Parts Department and talked civilian-like, and about home. One from Okla., one from Colorado, and one from Texas. Neither of them had been in combat and they ask a million questions about it. I enjoyed telling them because it is fun, as long as you are careful. I am buying a bond every two months." He again got to writing on July 15; that day he got two letters.

Ye Editor was shown a tent scene of North Africa this week, with Sgt. John V. Howard standing proud and defiant in front of it. Sgt. John seems to be eating plenty, only his eyes are squinted in the hot sunshine. He sent two clippings to his mother, from their mimeographed bulletin. It lists John as District Manager of the Quartermaster Sales Stores. Then they had a cartoon showing a shack or tent-like affair where Sgt. John Howard tries to sleep, and he yells out when he hears the bugle, "How'd that darned bugler get in here?" The Herald bets John is not as hot in Africa as he would have been in Hamlin the past weeks.

James Haight, 3rd Class Petty Officer returned Thursday to Norman, Okla., after a week at home, just before being sent to other parts of the world. James has been at the Naval Air Tech. Center in Norman about one full year. He has learned a lot already, especially that there is a mighty pretty girl in Norman.

Lieut. and Mrs. Ernest A. Davis of Camp Haan and Riverside, Calif., are guests in the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Dan Howard.

About Soldiers--Sailors

Pvt. Frank Campbell, son of Mr. and Mrs. T. F. Campbell writes from Africa that he is OK, and wants all his friends to know what part of the world he is in.

Corporal Albert A. Galloway Jr. of the Bryan Air Field, came up last week on a one day pass to visit his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Albert A. Galloway. He came up on a plane to Abilene and caught a ride out to his home, near McCauley. He has a stand-in with some flyers and can hop home often.

Lieut. Frank O. Hillier came up from the Hondo Air Field on Thursday night of last week. He was on his way to the Dodge City, Kansas Air Field where he starts taking lessons in the operation of very fast big 13 ton bombers—then he will teach others to fly such bombers. You know Frank is a married man now and his wife, who is now on a visit in Seattle, Washington, will join him in Kansas later.

For a long time nobody knew where Corpl. Allen O. Ford was, but on July 30 he started a letter to his brother, B. F. Ford, saying "Somewhere in Australia." Allen served 18 months before Pearl Harbor, and in a few days they called him back. In his letter he said "Everything O K and under control at present. . . . Saw a hell of a lot of water since I left there. . . . it was plenty hot when we crossed the Equator." . . . Heck, Allen, you don't know what kind of hot weather you missed by being out of Texas while your letter was coming. Hope the Herald goes right over to you, every week.

A COCOANUT BY MAIL

Yes sir, a cocoanut by mail from somewhere in the down-under Pacific, to Ye Editor, received last Friday morning. Our friend, D. W. McLendon, BM 2-C (Boilermaker, second class) had a unique way to remind us where he is located, or was located. A full-grown cocoanut, just like it was when dropped from the tree was mailed with only a TWO CENT postage. It arrived in fine shape, not even a censor mark on it, and it had the "shake" plenty, showing that inside was some nice milk, purified by nature. Well, thank you, Sailorboy McLendon. This is the funniest souvenir we have yet received from the far-off land or waters.

CORRECT ADDRESSES: It is a daily task to keep the proper addresses of our soldier boys. If a paper is sent to them and they have been moved, then in about a week a Change of Address postal card is found in our box, saying Postage Due 2c. We pay it out and find that the person has been moved to say, AAFTC, Sioux Falls, Dakota, which means only one thing—don't send any more Heralds to the old address and if we send them as indicated on the card he will not likely get it. (You see, the Co. or Unit or Barracks must be given). The postoffice does not know that when they fill out the cards. So we hold papers till correct address is given.

A letter from James T. Embrey at Camp Irwin, Calif. He says: "California is not so bad, but not just what I had dreamed of as a boy. Where I am now they say it is just 5 miles from hell. The temp gets to 150, so I don't get far away from camp, and besides, I am only 48 miles from Death Valley. I have been here 5 months, attached to the M. P. and I don't know which is a soldier's worst headache—M. P. or Mess Sgt. Been all the way from Camp Roberts to North Carolina and back to Camp Ord, and now I'm here on the desert where blisters came through my G. I. clothes. There are lots of worse places than Camp Irwin. When I left Texas I weighed 160 and now 200, so I guess Calif. is not so bad. (Say folks, this old kid wants to hear from his home friends.)

Marine Pvt. Melville Hines has been at home from the San Diego base, visiting with his parents. He says "If you want to grow muscles, join the Marines and get a good job done."

Corpl. L. C. Hill, son of Mr. and Mrs. M. Y. Hill, was over from Camp Barkeley the past week end.

Pfc. "Boots" Walker has been at home on furlough and business the past ten days from Gowen Field Idaho. He will start back Saturday and will go to the Pocatello Air Base.

PRISONER BOYS HEARD FROM

The happiest man in Hamlin last Friday was Bert Pribble who received a card from his son, Foy, who said he was a prisoner in a Jap camp, No. 1 in the Philippine Islands. It was one of those cards that has certain words or phrases to be filled out as suited. Foy said he was well and sent his love to his mother, dad and brother Iris, and signed his name in his well known hand writing.

A card was also received by Mr. and Mrs. R. E. Ray from their son, Ruben Eral, saying he was in the same Japanese prison camp as Pribble, but that he was in a hospital but improving. He too sent his love to his parents and friends and especially mentioned one young lady, signing his familiar name in his own hand. The Rays are now living near Hawley, but formerly lived near Hamlin.

Mrs. A. S. Joiner also received a card Wednesday from her son, 1st Sgt. Winifred, who is in Prison Camp No. 1 in the Philippines. He said: "Health is fair, am uninjured, am well, love to all, please give my best regards to everyone." Signed Winifred. Mrs. Joiner and her daughter, Mrs. Goaly Beavers, have just fixed up a box of things for Winifred.

The Herald is glad to learn that our friend, Lt. (jg.) Ray Willingham, Jr., is doing fine somewhere down yonder in the Pacific. Lt. Ray has been in the Navy nearly two years, and in the Pacific since last January. His letters are very optimistic, and his thoughts are back home, even in small details. His spare time is spent in swimming and sun-bathing. Yes, and he sends word to J. W. Ezell he is practicing to beat him on the golf grounds when he gets back! Ray is a son of Mrs. Ray Willingham, whose late husband was in the lumber business in Hamlin a number of years.

For the benefit and comfort of the friends of Corpl. John M. Apperson, of the Tuxedo community, we want to say the Herald has received a letter from him dated Aug. 4th. He is with the Engineers in North Africa. He was one of the early men to go into Camp Bowie. He was feeling fine and asked about all the Tuxedo people.

Remember Shelton King? He now has after his name CCM, and that means he is in a Construction Co. somewhere down in the Pacific. He is with Douglas W. McLendon, the fellow who sent us the Cocoanut, shuck and all by mail. King says they get 2 and 3 Heralds at a time and glad to hear from Hamlin. King has a son, Don, who is a prisoner of the Germans. Don was in the air service. So the Dad is in earnest in the war.

Friends have heard from Pvt. H. Q. Hall, an 18 year old boy, now stationed in Camp Abbott, Oregon. He was 18 in March and was inducted June 14th. He says it is cold up there but has plenty of pine knots. H. Q. has already won a medal as a sharpshooter.

Army Boys Are Coming!

Yes Sir, if you see "The Army" stop out in front of your house right soon—don't get "skeered."

There are "Soldier Men, under the leadership of Sgt. Strane, from Camp Barkeley now working Jones County with trucks, cutting torches and lifts—hunting by every house.

SCRAP IRON

The Army wants scrap iron that the people can't use and are willing to GIVE to help win the war. Will you look around, find some more old iron—pile it out or POINT it out to the soldiers? They will not touch it unless they are sure you want to give it.

HELP THE ARMY

Let's give 'em plenty of scrap to throw at the Japs. Don't fool around—the Jeeps are coming. Prove you can help.

At the close of the services at the Baptist revival last Tuesday night, August 10th, the members of the church presented Mr. and Mrs. M. L. Akins and family with a beautiful floor lamp and rug as a token of appreciation for the service they have rendered in this community and to the church for the past 37 years. This fine family is going to be missed in every part of the community and church life. Our very best wishes to the Akins family.

Just received a fine letter from our good friend Pfc. Loyd Andress, who is somewhere in Alaska. Loyd says the Herald is better than getting a ten dollar bill and that our comments in our O'Grams is right down his alley and he knows that we are for the boys in service. He tells of a visit with Tellus Wicker, and says he also saw Jack Perryman a couple of weeks ago, but Jack has left out for other hunting grounds. Loyd, we were indeed mighty happy to hear from you and as you say, give the boys the guns and you will bring home the bacon. Best wishes, Loyd.

service beginning Oct. 1st. That's a good idea. War production will be on the up and up if and when men are made to realize that they will have to fight if they fail to produce. There are still too many folks who "cuss" their government for doing this or not doing that, yet the very same folks are doing little or nothing to help win the war.

COMMENT No. 2—Where we have been able to buy 4 gallons of gasoline, we will now only be able to get 3 gallons on A and B ration stamps. That's all right too, except that folks who are harvesting their crops will perhaps need extra gasoline. Crops must be hauled to market, and tires for farm machinery must be available if said crops get to market. There is no such animal as wagons and teams any more. That is in this country, and when a tire blows out on a maize combine or a grain truck the whole show has come to a standstill until the owner burns up a lot of gas running all over the country to get a member of the ration board to sign a slip of paper for a new tire, and then it's still another fifty or hundred miles to find the tire. It takes all the wheels of industry turning at full speed to win the war. Burning gas and wearing out rubber looking for more rubber just doesn't make sense. The fellow who drives his car for pleasure should not get any gasoline, but the man who is producing and helping feed the world and the armed forces should at least get the gas he needs, especially down here in Texas, where plenty is or should be available. Rationing is what we must do to win a war due to scarcity but if there is no scarcity in needed material, then let the people have what is needed to produce.
